1. Publication of Books :

The Department organized four seminars and their proceedings have been published.

Apart from the publications of seminar proceedings, the faculty members have published 10 books.

2. Seminars organized:

Under DRS-I, the Department has organized four seminars and the fifth and last seminar is being organized on 30th & 31st March 2012.

3. Language Lab:

A well equipped A/C Language Lab is setup at Arts College with a U.G.C. grant of Rs 10 Lakhs. It has the capacity of 21 systems, but only eight systems could be procured for the lab. The lab is being used by the students and scholars.

4. Benefit of DRS to the students and staff:

The DRS-I proved to be a boon for the teachers and taught as it helped them in improving language and downloading the research material. Further, a separate practical paper entitled I. T. for Arabic Professional is prescribed for the P.G. Diploma in Translation. For this purpose the lab is being used by the students.

After entry of DRS, the Department could invite learned professors across India to deliver the lectures. There lecture were very useful for both the faculty members and the students.

Organisation of seminars, and publication of the proceedings helped strengthening Indo-Arab relations as the proceeding have been sent to the Arab Universities to show the India's vital contribution to the promotion of Arabic Language and Literature.
